On the way across first aid treatment was given to Captain Blinn. Quiet, but he did not respond, and when the Boston ship was reached physicians pronounced him dead.

First aid was given to the crew and women injured in the crash. Several of whom had fainted.

To add to the confusion of the passengers on the Ashburnham, a pretty young woman called "drop that" as the boat tossed the ship and a slim fingered young man darted from the boat as soon as she touched the pier and ran.

Among those injured were the following: all of Lynn, and all students at Boston College High School.

Choir Boys Losing Place to Athletes in France Now

Paris, Sept. 16.—Sport is fast becoming more popular than choir rehearsals for Paris boys.

Today the football player, swimmer or boxer is much more of a hero, and as a result the attendance at choir rehearsals is very unsatisfactory.

A proposal to fill up the choir with athletes in Notre Dame Cathedral is under consideration. A strong choir would then be concentrated in the cathedral and choir music transmitted by wireless to other churches in Paris.

This would necessitate the services being held at the same hour, which would undoubtedly cause some little inconvenience, so converts will likely be recruited.

Willard B. Dunn, summer school merchant, of No. 626 Walnut avenue, Newtownville, was held in $1,000 bail in Brighton court today when he pleaded not guilty to charges of dangerous driving and failing to stop after an accident.

The charges arose out of a collision on Commonwealth avenue in which Dunn's car struck and overturned a car containing Henry J. Smith, No. 27 Wallingford road, Brighton; Dr. Richard L. Smith, of No. 29 Nottingham road, listed as McDonald of No. 1 New Heath street, and Mrs. Katherine Crenk, of No. 123 Boston street.

Dunn's car was spotted by a witness after he had driven away.

MAN TAKEN BY POLICE IN SOMERSET

Patrolman Leo Hurley of the Somerset police force, on his life to the alertness of a fellow officer, Lelley V. Pierce, a reserve officer.

When a twenty-one-year-old Providence gambler, one of a party of five, drew a revolver and ordered to shoot Hurley, who accented the gambler's arm. Five men entered the fray in time to grasp the gambler's arm. The five men are locked up and will face serious charges.

The gambler gave his name as Albert L. Prescott, thirty-one, of No. 27 Warren avenue, Providence. The four others arrested with him were James H. McNamee, eighteen, and his brother Theodore J. McNamee, of Franklin avenue, Hartford; Nicholas Carolla, sixteen, of South street, Hartford; and John J. Andrews, eighteen, of Gold street, South Boston.

The two officers were standing on Myrtle avenue below the Bellevue early today when they saw five men approaching. The men carried a heavy baggage and were acting in a suspicious manner.

The officers concealed themselves and when the others drew ahead Hurley stepped forth and asked what they had in the bag.

According to the officers, Prescott drew a revolver and endeavored to shoot the officer but the work of Pierce prevented. The shooting resulted in the five men being taken to the police station.

When they were taken to the police station it was found that the bag contained a quantity of ammunition.

These were identified as having been stolen from a gasoline station in the Fall River near Wallingford Bridge and the five men were arrested in Somerset court, charged with breaking and entering.

They were held in $2,000 each until tomorrow. Prescott was held in $1,000 additional bail on a charge of carrying a loaded revolver.

It is a disappointment and a failure," he wrote. To the manager of the hotel he wrote a note apologizing for the trouble his suicide would cause.

JAPAN'S about to recognize Russia. She may soon be helping Trotsky to slip up China.

England has recognized Russia already and is lending her money. We hold back. Our national feelings are hurt because Lenin and Trotsky wouldn't pay back money that some of our financiers lent to the Czar when he was on his last legs. We ought to send these financiers to a home for the feeble-minded, and do business with Russia as everybody else does.

THE AMERICAN MUSEUM OF NATURAL HISTORY possesses a collection of fish caught in underground waters of the Sahara Desert. The curious thing is that these fish are not blind, in spite of the fact that they had never seen the light of day when captured.

This proves that they haven't lived in the dark for very many generations. Scientists think the eggs from which they hatched were brought on the toes of birds and dropped in holes leading to the underground waters.

IT'S ANNOYING to Mr. Bryan and others, but the fish in the Mammoth Cave of Kentucky are blind. They have been blind a long while. The eyes that evolution gave to them darkness took from them. Evolutionists compare to blind fish those that reject their environment in a way not commensurate.

"TOOK HAPPINESS WHERE I FOUND IT," SAYS WINTHROP GIRL

CARES NOTHING FOR OPINIONS OF PUBLIC, HEIRESS ASSERTS

Burlington, Vt., Sept. 16.—She took her happiness where she found it and she won't let even the wrath of her wealthy father spoil her honeymoon.

As for the rest of the world, it may just go on minding its own business, if it has any.

That sums up the attitude of Mrs. Emily Winthrop Mills, the eldest daughter of Grenville Lindell Winthrop, millionaire resident of New York and Lenox, Mass.

With her chauffeur-husband, she is established in a quiet little suite at the Hotel New Sherwood here.

WINTHROP "FOLDS."
They spend much of their time visiting "my folks," the Mills' being a numerous and respected clan in this section.

They go to country fairs and eat hot dogs and drink soda, pop and take long walks about this beautiful city by the lake and the even more beautiful countryside in which the town is set.

When a reporter found her she was at first disinclined to talk about her own elopement or that of her sister, Kate, who ran off and married Darwin S. Morse, former post-tycoon on the Winthrop estate in Lenox.

Or the whereabouts of her sister and the latter's young husband she would not speak, saying they had a right to their privacy.

"In my own marriage there was nothing rash or sensational," she said, "it was simply a matter of taking it over."

"I hadn't married him I couldn't have been happy, so I took my happiness where I found it."

She wore a black velvet jacket and skirt of striped lining with a white kid sport hat over her luxuriant head of blonde hair. She wore no jewelry except a plain gold band.

CLUBMAN WILL TAKE FACTORY GIRL AS BRIDE

TOSIA SZYCHOWIEZ
Peabody shoe factory worker and son of wealthy broker have filed marriage intentions at Salem City Hall.

Money didn't influence them one bit.

"Why last Saturday night Mr. Miles and I got married. My sister all went over to Mr. Miles' mother's home in Jericho's dinner."

"After supper we sat around the table and just talked as if we had all known each other all our lives."

She said she had several visits with her sister and still retains my most favorable first impression.

"We have enjoyed our honeymoon here and have tried to get just the any other young couple on a honeymoon would act."

"We do not have our room in the hotel here until about noon. Then we have the cook get up a lunch. We drive out into the beautiful hills, country, about here and picnic in the woods."

"We return late in the afternoon and sometimes go to the movies or just walk about the city looking in the shop windows."

ATTEND FAIR.
"Today we went over to the 'Champion' Exposition and saw all the sights of that big country fair. We ate hot dogs and popcorn and drank lemonade, and acted just like the two happy kids at the country fair."

"No, we have no plans. We may stay here for some time, or we may decide to join my sister and her husband any day."

Asked where the bride and groom felt she thought this wanted to see of the honeymoon, she felt she ought to respect their wishes.

Mr. Miles entered the room attended in linen knicker and golf cap. He appeared disinterested at the presence of a stranger and sat silent until the interview was ended.

The room the Mills have at the New Sherwood is an unassuming one on the first floor in a secluded portion of the hotel. The door is barred absolutely to bell boys, housemaids and other employees of the hotel.

RECEIVER GETS ORDER TO SUSPEND RAILWAY
Today, Carroll of the Supreme Court today granted the petition of Zeena W. Bliss to cease the operation of the Interstate Consolidated Street Railway, of which Mr. Bliss was appointed receiver and was now being run by Judge Wait of the Supreme Court.

Mr. Bliss said that even if one man were substituted for the present equipment the road could not be operated except at a loss.

James H. Valley, who appeared for the employees of the company, expressed an opinion that in view of the situation of the company in 1923, the road could still be maintained as long as the business for the summer months would be offset by gains during the winter season.

M'ILLAN TO START FOR WISCONSIN TODAY
Winchester, Me., Sept. 16.—Captain Donald B. MacMillan, who arrived at Sydney, N. S., after a hard trip across the Gulf of St. Lawrence from the Newfoundland coast, expects to reach here Saturday afternoon. In a radio message he reported he would leave Sydney today.

Hiram P. Maxim, president of the American Radio Relay League, to be sent MacMillan his message.

"Congratulations to you and your gallant crew on getting clear of the ice. Keep the nose of the little Bowdoin pointed south from now on. A royal welcome awaits you when you reach the States. We will all be there."

ELOPING BEAUTY BRIDE MAY GO TO SCHOOL

Haverhill Girl, Only 15, Comes Under Law of Continuation Study

Haverhill, Sept. 16.—Local school authorities are up in the air over the status of Mrs. Susan Munro, 15-year-old girl, who is now in the custody of her mother, Mrs. George A. Munro, 40, of No. 108 Middle street.

Mrs. Munro, who is but 15 years of age, was married in Haverhill, N. H., on Sept. 5.

According to the school attendance officer, George A. Munro, she claimed she was 17 years when she received her marriage license a few days ago.

She is at present working under an employment certificate, but Attendance Officer Pickard doubted the certificate and secured a birth certificate from John H. Garland, the town clerk of County, N. H. According to the New Haverhill town official she was born May 15, 1909.

According to the present State law, Mrs. Munro will be obliged to attend the continuation school and if she does she will be the first girl married woman to attend the public schools.

Mrs. Munro was recently declared "Miss Haverhill, of 1924," at a dance of the Haverhill Post-Office. It was a beauty contest held at the Haverhill Post-Office. Following the award by the judges, the bride and groom were married in Haverhill.

Officer Pickard is making an investigation into the case, and will report to the State Board of Education.

But, Pickard, pointed in his opinion, and Mrs. Munro, the Federal girl did not appear to match when it came to their own.

'President's Cake Maker' Dies After Long Illness

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 16.—Mrs. Betty Lyles Wilson, sixty-four, domestic science expert, known during the administrations of Presidents Wilson, Taft and Roosevelt and McKinley as the "President's cake maker," died last night after an eighteen-month illness.

Mrs. Wilson was among the first women to produce cakes of luscious, long-lasting quality. She started popularizing the idea thirty years ago.

She had personal messages from four Presidents and numerous Governors, as well as other dignitaries.

She is survived by her husband, William H. Wilson, Nashville manufacturer, and a daughter.

She is at present working under an employment certificate, but Attendance Officer Pickard doubted the certificate and secured a birth certificate from John H. Garland, the town clerk of County, N. H. According to the New Haverhill town official she was born May 15, 1909.

NABS WEDDING GUEST AS BAD CHECK MAN

Somerville Policeman Dells Up and Goes to Swell Function to Catch Suspect

Even if Dana P. Fairbanks did have a piece of action when he was all dressed up in a ditty make any difference to Patrolman Dan O'Connell of Somerville.

The policeman found Fairbanks another nice fellow—in the Somerville house, taking him out of a church wedding in Arlington for the but none.

Today in Somerville Court, Fairbanks appeared a sentence of fifteen days in the House of Correction for alleged stirring of a bad check on the George L. Oliver Drug Company of Somerville.

Even Judge O'Connell has had an eye peeled for Fairbanks, but says a scold did not get of him until information came that Fairbanks was out at a wedding in Arlington.

FIRPO LETTERS MADE PUBLIC AT HEARING

Canon Chase Warns American
Youth to Beware of Dark-
Eyed Senoritas

New York, Sept. 16 (Universal)—The supreme test of a woman is when she remembers to forget. When a girl has a good memory it ought to be accompanied by a strong chin.

If Blanca Lourdes, Luis Angel Firpo's ample arm, could only have forgotten to remember, William Sheafe Chase, of Brooklyn, wouldn't be sitting in the penance giving the Wild Bull the long laugh.

Firpo sat over on Ellis Island listening to witnesses, corralled by the Canon, tell why he is an undesirable visitor and should be invited to go away from here.

The petite Senorita Nita Pashu, who conducts a rooming establishment, was the Canon's ace in the hole, as they say in gambling circles.

"Luis and Blanca come to my place to live," said the Senorita. "This is just before Luis fight with Eugene Dempsey. They take American money 72-72-72. Two rooming Blanca occupies the real."

"Blanca comes to my place to live," said the Senorita. "This is just before Luis fight with Eugene Dempsey. They take American money 72-72-72. Two rooming Blanca occupies the real."

President Not Yet Old Enough to Play Golf

Washington, Sept. 16.—President Coolidge is still too young to play golf, in the opinion of Charles "Chick" Evans, former national open champion, who called on the Chief Executive at the White House.

The golf wizard urged President Coolidge to take up the game so soon as he became old enough. The President protested that he had never had time to learn.

PHONE RATE ADVANCE

New Schedules Will Net
$649,000 in Year,

He Says

E. Mark Sullivan, corporation counsel of Boston, bitterly assailed the State Department of Public Utilities today for granting increases in the 15, 20, and 25 cent telephone toll rates.

At the resumption of the telephone hearing, he said that if he were able he would "file a certificate of prejudice," indicating that he would like to take the entire matter out of the hands of the utilities department.

The company's figures indicate that the increase will amount to $649,000 a year," he said. "It is a matter of fact that they will reach $649,000 plus. The people of Massachusetts have not been treated fairly."

YALE FOOTBALL STAR CAUGHT IN RAID

Charley O'Hearn of Brookline
Haled to Court With Society Buds

Great Neck, L. I., Sept. 16.—Charley O'Hearn of Brookline, brilliant Yale quarterback, was one of half a dozen young men and women arrested in a raid made on the fashionable home of Miss Vera Latimer at Great Neck Hills.

According to Miss Latimer, who is very angry, it was only a quiet little birthday party given in honor of her very dear friend, Miss Isabelle Briggs of Philadelphia.

Of course Miss Latimer admits that she invited a few of the boys from New York to help celebrate the happy event.

PLenty OF COVETAILS.

And, of course, there were some covetails.

"The boys brought a little liquor with them for the drinks," Miss Latimer explained to the authorities.

When the county police descended upon the Latimer house, they found not only the liquor, but the young men and "society" from New York, but they also found Harry B. DeLoach, who is justice of the peace of Great Neck.

The police were mystified as to just how the justice of the peace came to be in the party. Miss Latimer explained this very simply.

"We were having a good time and some men appeared about the house and peered in the windows at our little party. Of course, we were frightened and so we called up the justice of the peace and he came right over. He represents the law and you know how it is. You feel safer with the law about."

TWO MICHIGAN LADS.

Soon after the justice arrived, however, Miss Latimer found that she had more representatives of the law on her hands than she had bargained for.

There came a heavy knock at the door. It was one of the county police and he demanded to be admitted. When he was ushered into the reception hall, he presented a Michigan lad who offered to be a witness.

The girls were forced to stay in jail all night. The men went back to New York after posting security. The girls were later released on the charge of disorderly conduct and will be on a hearing Saturday.

Women of Britain Rebelling Against the Word 'Obey'

London, Sept. 16.—That troublesome little word "obey" in the marriage service of the Church of England is again the subject of comment and may start a controversy when the national assembly of the church meets in November.

The league of the church militant is determined that it shall be deleted. A systematic canvass is being made among the women of England to enlist their aid in a movement for the emancipation of their sisters from "marital thralldom."

"The marriage service as it stands now," says Mrs. Marston Ayres, an official of the league, "implies a distinct inferiority, both of position and of intellect in the wife."

FARMHANDS SOUGHT IN SLAYING

Former Admirer of 15-Year-Old Jersey Girl Is Now Hunted by Police

Kington, N. J., Sept. 16 (U.S.A.)—State troopers and authorities of Middlesex County today prosecuted a vigorous search for a discharged farmhand, Harvey Delahave, twenty-nine, formerly of Spencer, Iowa, whom they wish to question regarding the murder of fifteen-year-old Sarah Elizabeth Johnson of Plainsboro, whose body was found hidden beneath bushes of St. James' College, Kington, on the banks of Lake Carnegie, she had been shot through the head with a .22-caliber bullet.

The girl disappeared August 12, and her body was carefully laid out on a Philadelphia newspaper of that date.

DISCHARGES FROM HAND.—The farmhand, who formerly had been employed by Joseph Johnson, the girl's father, had been discharged because he paid too much attention to the girl. According to the father, this man disappeared from Kington on the day the girl disappeared.

Mrs. Bertha Johnson, mother of the dead girl, first noticed he was paying marked attention to her daughter. When she ordered him to desert, she told the state troopers, he replied: "If I can't have her, no one else will."

The girl's fate was attributed by neighbors to her precocious development and beauty. She was mature for her age. A year ago she was prosecuting witness against a youth who was sentenced to the penitentiary for an attack upon her. This youth is not under suspicion, according to the authorities.

The body was found on the anniversary of the unsolved murders of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and his choir singer, Mrs. James Mills, whose bodies were found in the same country. Like them, she was shot to death. Like them, she had been out with meticulous care. Like them, too, her murder had for a background a clandestine love affair.

SILVER BUCKLES GONE.—County Detective David revealed today that two silver buckles which were missing from the girl's pump when her body was found, had been cut away. He said they were doubtless taken after the girl had been shot but would avoid any reason for the act.

It also was learned that the girl, who slept with her ten-year-old sister, Katherine, had gotten up and dressed about 10:30 o'clock on the night she disappeared. The younger girl said that she awoke and asked Elizabeth if she couldn't sleep. She replied "no, I'm too restless," and then went out and Katherine went back to sleep.

WILLET JUROR HAS A NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

A nervous breakdown suffered by Joseph L. Day of Medway, one of the jurors sitting in the long-drawn-out Willett trial in Dedham Superior court, caused a halt in the trial today. Through agreement by counsel, the trial was resumed with eleven jurors.

Expert Tells Why Method Should Be Followed at All Hospitals

It's a bit late, of course, to put the boy on the pan, but truth compels the statement that the Robinson "Crane" prominent resident of San Fernando Island, was somewhat dumb when it came to getting at the bottom of things.

The Boston City Hospital doesn't treat Robinson Crane into the matter, confining itself instead to modern babies.

Yet Crane garbled the original chance for a big play in the matter of identifying footprints, leaving no big opportunity to have his name as meaning down through the ages—some such sort of thing, by reading not only between the lines but on them.

SOLEPRINT BABIES.

But Crane merely took a look at the footprints on the sands and left it go at that.

"I'll call him Friday, the poor fellow," he mused—and away went the golden moment for establishing his ducks pat as a runaway baited cat.

Up at the City Hospital, they're doing it differently altogether. The babies are being sole-printed, and the physicians and the mothers can get a line or two from the infants for future identification.

However, if you have a kid, noted, it can put its foot down—and presto, its identity is established.

Prevents mixups of the infants also, before they have accumulated the bumps and scratches which identify little Dominic Strohman from little Jerry O'Reilly—they that look alike as a couple of muffins, during the first few days in the nursery.

In conjunction with the sole-printing of babies, the hospital authorities fingerprint the mothers, who have a mix-up a physical impossibility.

The reliability of the fingerprint system is well known, it being in general use throughout the world. The soleprint idea is much more recent.

PRACTICAL WAY.

A prominent physician who has made a special study of both fingerprinting and soleprinting, but who requested that his name be withheld for editorial reasons, said:

"Soleprinting should be adopted by all maternity hospitals as one of two or more methods for the purpose of identification as a protection for mother, child and hospital."

"One method should be a simple, practical one, whereby the identity of the baby could be told at a glance, such as the head or neck-label system. For instance, if the nurse wanted to bring the baby to its mother, it would hardly be possible for her to look up its sole print every time, but she could easily read the baby's name on its neck-label, and when leaving the hospital, as well as at home, one would serve as a check on the other."

SHOULD BE USED.

"It is impossible to classify the mothers in a baby's soleprint at birth, but this does not mean that they cannot be identified. Moreover, the system of classifying soleprints is a different one from the fingerprint system. In the large majority of cases a complete classification can be made where only one print has been taken, and a much larger per cent. where the two have been taken. Of the number that cannot be classified, the difficulty has been due to some error in the taking of the print—smudging, for instance."

SIMPLE PROCEDURE.

"The taking of sole prints is a simple and practical procedure, a lightly inked roller is run over the baby's foot, the right sole then lightly impressed on a good grade of rag paper. The process is then repeated with the left foot."

"The print of the first four fingers of the mother's right hand is then made, and the record completed by the filling in of the mother's name and that of the obstetrician. With this print we have a permanent record of absolute identity of both mother and child."

The First Telephone and Some of Its Successors

New England and the Telephone

THE telephone was born in Boston, was sponsored by New England brains and New England capital, and from this corner of the United States started out on its world-wide career.

As an agency of distribution, our service ranks with that of the railroads. Every business man is concerned quite as deeply with the problem of distribution as he is with the problem of manufacturing.

We believe we are of service in helping to bring to New England the raw material necessary to its factories, and in helping to distribute the finished products not only throughout New England, but to all quarters of the world.

Telephone service means to us the completion of 5,000,000 calls per day right here in New England. It is our desire to handle this immense volume of business expeditiously and correctly. To do this requires not merely adequate equipment maintained to a high standard of perfection, but also individual team play of the highest order by 25,000 employees.

We are preparing to play a larger part in the advancement of New England and the development of its enterprises.

NEW ENGLAND'S MESSAGE GETS BIG BOOST

Mechanics Building Meeting Starts "Week" Off in Right Fashion

Providence. Over 600 miles of telephone lines were used to carry the proceedings of the meeting to the various broadcasting stations.

NEW ENGLAND SONG.

The Governors of Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Connecticut, the Governor-elect of Maine, the Lieutenant-Governor of Rhode Island and the Secretary of Agriculture of Vermont, addressed the New England Week meeting from the Eastern States Exposition at Springfield, speaking into a telephone microphone which carried their voices by wire to Mechanics Hall, and through the four great broadcasting stations of the world at large.

The New England Week song, composed and written especially for the campaign, was broadcasted from Mechanics Hall last night, too. It was "My New England," sung by Mrs. Katherine Follett Mann, mezzo-soprano, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Herbert Y. Follett. It was the first public rendition of the new song, which will be sung in many pleasure theatres and public gatherings from Maine to Connecticut before the New England Week drive is ended.

Dr. Klein of the Department of Commerce brought the cheering news of the evening.

FACE TOWARD FUTURE.

"New England can look to the future of its commerce with confidence," he said. "This New England Week, which entails the selling of New England in New England, is a good thing, and its effects will be felt for good in every corner of the land."

"The Department of Commerce, which I have the honor to represent here, will not only lend its facilities to developing the business of the West of Boston, but is eager to assist in many other phases of New England's export problem."

Then he cited trade figures hitherto unpublished, which showed the value of New England exports to be increasing.

FARM EXHIBITS.

"While New England may find inspiration in looking backward to a past filled with brilliant achievements in industry and commerce," he said, "I believe she can turn her eyes to the future with a fine confidence in equally brilliant achievements to come."

"The stimulation of conditions in the agricultural sections of the West is already reacting favorably upon the New England trade in manufactured products. It has been estimated that the purchasing power of the Western farmer will be increased this year by approximately a billion dollars. His money will not be hoarded."

"And however it is used, there will be a demand for products made in this section."

Everywhere: in the home, on street cars and railroad trains, in clubs, restaurants, factories and stores, the six States that comprise the New England group are having kind things said about them. Strangers who thought New England dead and buried have reason to believe otherwise.

Every downtown Boston department and specialty store displayed "Made-in-New England" goods in such profusion that the average citizen was amazed to learn that articles of daily use were manufactured not far from home.

That the retail merchants are fully alive to the possibilities of New England Week was evidenced on every stand, in every town and city of this section of the country.

PLAYLET "COVERS" FIELD.

Everything from Vermont maple syrup and Arundel County potatoes to Connecticut-grown tobacco will be featured over today in a playlet written especially for New England Week by Miss Harriet Alexander of No. 1 Walnut street, Roxbury.

All the girls taking part in the playlet are members of the Girl Scouts of Greater Boston.

The scene of the playlet is Camp Kivanas. During the course of the production the girls who comprise the cast will boost various New England things that strike them as being of superior excellence.

real meeting has been the cause of much of our industrial depression, if they be induced to understand that the million citizens of this country are as intelligent, honest, patriotic and loyal as any of the millions outside of Boston, they will begin to realize the great wrong inflicted on this city by a careless provocation of political prejudice and misrepresentation, and begin to bring it to an end."

On the Air Last Night

By THE LISTENER

At eight minutes past seven I was listening to dance music from WNY in New York. While reception at this early hour from New York is obtained in some of the outlying districts it is the first time I have obtained it in my town. The dinner concert by the WNY Trio was also tuned in with exceptional volume.

Judging by the number of letters and cards received about my talk from WNY last Tuesday night, I must have been appreciated. I am taking this occasion to thank those who have written their appreciation, and wish to say that another such talk has been arranged for in about one month. "Spelling" regenerative sets must be put under control, and we will not leave a stone unturned in our efforts along this line.

The simultaneous broadcast from WNAC, WJAR, WRZ and WJRH on the New England Week program was everything that could be desired. While I did not attend this program in the New England area, I was able to follow it through the radio.

Winners in Puzzle Contest in Paper Tomorrow

Like a crocus poking cheerfully up through a Spring snowdrift, little Northampton is emerging from the pile of radio puzzle answers that swamped us a while ago.

To those in the know this seems to mean that in tomorrow's paper we'll have the names of the nine winners of these prizes.

Little Northampton and the six other winners that helped sort the letters are still pretty dazed from the strain of picking nine winners out of more than 500 entries, each of whom submitted eighteen puzzles, but triumph has crowned our efforts at last.

So set your three cents all sorted out for tomorrow's American and see whether you win a four-bit set, an Acme kit-set, or one of the other big prizes.

Of that famous announcer, Graham McNamee, well known to millions of people as a result of his announcing at New York and Cleveland this summer, was again heard by local fans last night. This broadcast, which was held from McNamee's studio in Boston, had a few of the Shriners' Band, under the direction of William Harmon. The music by the Shriners' Band of Massachusetts, led by conductor, Fred the Bull, who is the well-known announcer to promote. The address of Governor Coughlin and other speakers, came through in fine shape.

The Grand String Ensemble of the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. broadcast from the store, furnished some word numbers. The selections played by the trio were largely of a Hungarian nature, and very beautiful.

Conditions last night were fair. The atmosphere was alive and bright, but the radio seemed to have a distant station could be heard through the static discharges, but there were of an entertainment value on this account. About the farthest I could reach with any satisfaction on my loud speaker, was WJAR, in Philadelphia.

WGTV had on a program consisting of a pianist and a soprano. Both were very good and came over clear as a bell. The pianist seemed a bit nervous in her first number, as it could be noticed in her playing of Chopin's E flat Nocturne.

At 9:34, WBY, the "Music of the Night" program, was broadcast. It was a very good one, and was held from McNamee's studio in Boston, had a few of the Shriners' Band, under the direction of William Har-
